

Lighting Control

If you wish you never had to walk into a dark house again, you're going to want ACCESS.

Because ACCESS allows you to turn your lights on--and off--from anywhere in the world with an Internet connection.

You can set your system to create lighting scenes, such as "Welcome Home," "All On," or "All Off;" activated throughout your home by the touch of one button.

Your lighting control can even be connected to your security system.

You can use dimmers and timers that let you save energy by turning lights down--or off--when you don't need them.

And when you're home, the beauty of it all is that you have one small keypad that lets you control everything.

Bright, isn't it?
