

Home Automation

Who doesn't wish they could be in control of everything in their home?

Now you can.

Because now you can have ACCESS. It puts the control of your home theater and surround sound systems, whole house audio and video, lighting and climate controls, security systems, plus all of your computer networking and communications right at your fingertips.

With one easy-to-program, easy-to-use remote device you can use anywhere in your home. Or access from anywhere in the world via an Internet connection.

And this ACCESS Controller can be programmed for only the home technology solutions you choose--whether you choose one or all of the above.

That's why we call it ACCESS.